Michele "Wojo" Wojciechowski is the author of the national award-winning humor book "Next Time I Move, They'll Carry Me Out in a Box." She created and writes the award-winning humor column, "Wojo's World," and has written and performed stand-up comedy since she was 18—so the past five years. (Hey, stop laughing!) She also loves saying "award-winning." In addition, Wojo has served on the faculty of the Erma Bombeck Writers Workshop, moderated and spoken on panels about humor at the American Society of Journalists and Authors annual conference, and has given countless talks about adding humor to your life to business associations, fraternal organizations, and networking groups. Wojo's writing has appeared in Discover, Reader's Digest, Family Circle, Country Woman, Boys' Life, the LA Times Magazine, Discover Life, Energy Times, Parade, Vanity Fair online, the PBS website Next Avenue, Forbes.com, BaltimoreSun.com, as well as in many other publications and websites. She has appeared on television, radio, podcasts, and in newspapers speaking about everything from how moving can be hilarious instead of a nightmare to returning a book to the library that was 34 years overdue.
